Description

Mouse IL-6 (also known as B Cell Stimulating Factor, BCSF, and BSF-2) is a ~21-28 kDa factor produced by a variety of cell types, including monocytes, fibroblasts and endothelial cells. Upon stimulation, macrophages, T, B, mast, and glial cells, eosinophils, keratinocytes and granulocytes also secrete IL-6. This pleiotrophic cytokine influences the antigen-specific immune response, inflammatory response, and the development of neurons, and is a major mediator of the acute phase reaction.

Applications Reported

Recombinant mouse IL-6 is biologically active and can promote proliferation of mouse B cell lines in culture. It is also used as a cytokine standard in mouse IL-6 ELISA.

Applications Tested

The ED50 of this protein, as measured by B9 cell proliferation assay, is less than or equal to 5 pg/mL. This corresponds to a specific activity of greater than or equal to 2 x 10⁸ Units/mg.
